Medical Cannabis may help with Parkinson's relief.

.....

According to Harvard medical marijuana may help with such nerve pain diseases, including Parkinson's.

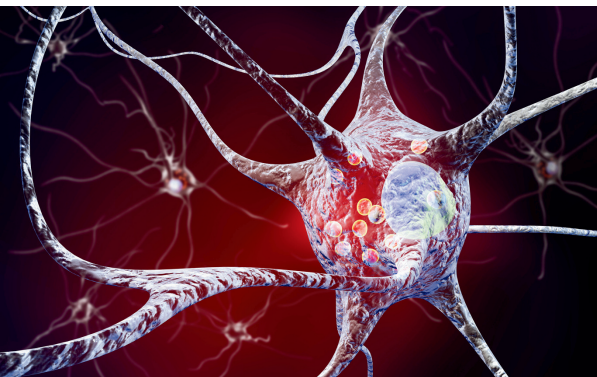

Parkinson's Disease (PD) is a neurodegenerative disorder that affects the dopamine-producing neurons in the substantia nigra area of the brain. There are over 40 symptoms of PD. the 3 main symptoms are tremors (shaking), slowness of movement and muscle stiffness.

Some PD patients have found the sedative and muscle relaxing qualities of medical cannabis to offer relief.

Although the findings have come from small studies, the results have been positive.

Parkinsons.org offers insight into the risk and benefits for PD patients who want to try cannabis as a relief tool. They cite possible benefits as improved anxiety, pain, sleep dysfunction, weight loss and nausea.
